

Thank You!

Dear Cheryl / Emails to Heaven,

Hi there—Sir Didymus here!

I may not be able to write this myself (these paws make typing a bit tricky), but I wanted to send you the biggest, happiest tail wag of thanks—if I still had my tail, that is. Even without it, I'm feeling joy again... and that's because of you.

Not long ago, I was in a very dark place. I was abandoned, injured, and unsure if anyone would ever care for me again. But then something amazing happened: Fayette Friends of Animals found me—and people like you stepped up to help. Your $100 gift to the Emergency Medical Fund didn't just go toward my care—it gave me a second chance. And even better? It means other animals like me will have hope, too, when they need it most.

In just one week, I've gained 10 pounds, started healing, and discovered what it feels like to be safe, warm, and loved. I've even started smiling again—maybe you'll see it in the photo they sent along with this note.

They say I'm resilient, strong, and full of love. I just know I'm lucky. Lucky to be here. Lucky to be healing. And lucky to have someone like you—someone who believes in second chances and knows that love never fades... it grows.

With all my love (and a sloppy kiss if you'll take it),

Sir Didymus

(written with love and a little help from my friends at the shelter)
